BALANCE

balance was adverse," the department said. "The extraordinary change probably reflected a coincidence of several developments."

Among them it cited:
 — Sizeable amounts of capital being pulled back home by U.S. corporations. The firms were working against end-of-the-year deadlines to bring their 1968 investments in overseas branches below temporary ceilings imposed by the government.

— A sudden tightening of credit conditions in the United States in December, prompting companies with funds abroad to repatriate them.

— A flurry of cash coming in from other nations' purchases of U.S. military goods and services in the last few weeks of the year.

While such developments can cause short-run improvement in the figures, government policymakers attach greater significance to 1968's weak position of U.S. exports compared to imports.

Ruling Goes Against JP Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court held today as being a denial of due process a provision in Arkansas law that grants justices of the peace fees and costs only when the accused is convicted.

The unanimous opinion came in the appeal of a case from Circuit Court in Clay County by Alma Jean Doty, a justice of the peace.

Charles Goodwin was issued a traffic ticket in Clay County on June 7, 1968, charging him with reckless driving and directing him to appear in justice of the peace court for trial.

Goodwin moved for a dismissal of the charge on grounds that in misdemeanor cases a justice of the peace receives his fees and costs only when the accused is convicted.

The justice denied the motion to dismiss, but the Circuit Court sustained Goodwin's contention and prohibited the justice of the peace from proceeding further.

The high court, in an opinion by Associate Justice George Rose Smith, cited a 1927 U.S. Supreme Court case from Ohio and said "the presiding judge in a criminal case must not have a pecuniary interest in convicting the accused."

The Arkansas Supreme Court said the state still had on the statute books a "remnant of the condemned procedure" in which fees are paid by the defendant if he is convicted.

The law is silent as to the defendant's liability when he is acquitted and this is construed to mean he is not liable, the court said.

"Of course, the fact that a justice of the peace would have a pecuniary interest in a judgment of conviction . . . does not prevent him from exercising the jurisdiction in misdemeanor cases given to him by (law) if he elects to serve without compensation either upon a conviction or upon an acquittal," Smith wrote.

"It is appropriate for us to point out that additional legislation on the subject seems to be needed," the court said.

In other cases, the high court: — Reversed Circuit Court in Boone County in a case in which Milford Fuller was sentenced to not less than 16 nor more than 48 months in prison on conviction of receiving stolen property in September 1967.

— Upheld Circuit Court in Chicot County in its award of a $165,000 judgment to Orville Moorehead. The judgment was against Bell Transportation Co. Moorehead was injured while using Bell's tandem truck and lowboy.

Legislators Criticized Editorially

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The actions of some state legislators at a ball for them at the Little Rock Country Club last Thursday have been criticized in an editorial in this week's issue of the Arkansas Baptist Newsmagazine.

Mixed drinks were served legislators from three bars set up for the occasion by the party's hosts, the editorial said. Most legislators imbibed and offered some wry comments on the mixed-drink legislation to be acted on by the legislature, it said.

"Don't get a picture of me with this drink in my hand because I've got to vote against the mixed-drink bill," one legislator was quoted as saying by the editorial.

Another, from a dry county, was quoted by the article as saying, "You can show me holding one because I'm voting for the mixed-drink bill."

The editorial, written by Dr. Erwin L. McDonald, editor of the newsmagazine, said, "The open flaunting of the laws of the state by the very men and women who are supposed to be paragons of law and order is a sad commentary of the state affairs in Arkansas."

"As we see it, this involves far more than whether Arkansas is to be publicly wet or dry," the editorial said. "The real issue is whether or not citizens and lawmakers alike are to be lawabiding men and women of integrity and honor. We can respect one who feels different from the way we feel about the manufacture, sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages," it said. "But we can only deplore the conduct of those who deliberately trample under foot the laws of the state, whether those laws relate to alcohol, to safety on the highways or to some other area of vital concern of the welfare of the people."

"We should like to say to the governor and to the members of the legislature: please show enough character — guts, if you prefer — to vote your convictions on mixed-drinks and all the other issues before you, but show the same guts in abiding by upholding the laws that are on our books," the editorial said.

was returned to the capsule by a companion diver and was immediately lifted to the surface and transferred to a decompression chamber on the deck of the ship.

"First examination of Cannon's diving equipment after return to the surface indicated it was working normally," a spokesman said. "It was also operating normally when he left the diving capsule."

"Medical officers present feel that Cannon's death was caused by cardiac arrest occurring in the course of a deep dive. The other three divers with Cannon at the time are all right and have been returned in their diving capsule to a deck decompression chamber aboard the mother ship."

"The accident has no connection with leaks in the habitat," Cannon is survived by his widow, Mary, and three sons, Patrick, Kevin and Neal, temporarily living in Chula Vista, Calif. Their permanent residence is Panama City, Fla., where Cannon worked for the Navy's Mine Defense Laboratory.

assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy testify today before the jury trying Sirhan Bishara Sirhan for the murder.

Grier, a 280-pounder who played on the Los Angeles Rams team, bulldozed aside the crowd in the narrow pantry of the Ambassador Hotel where Kennedy was shot, then pounced on the 112-pound Sirhan.

"Don't let anything happen to him," Grier shouted when the crowd menaced Sirhan. "We want him alive."

Vincent Thomas DiPierro, a part-time waiter whose father is maitre' at the hotel, was scheduled as today's leadoff witness. He testified Friday that he was about five feet from the senator when he observed the flash from the first shot.

Others on the prosecution witness schedule as the trial began its first full week of testimony included Angelo DiPierro, the hotel maitre' d'; Martin Patrusky and Jesus Perez, hotel employees.

Grier, a friend of the Kennedys, accompanied the senator on the California presidential primary campaign. The New York senator was shot last June after speaking to a large crowd celebrating his primary victory. He died 25 hours later.

The Hill today was the opening of the Senate-House Economic committee's annual review of the President's Economic Report, always an occasion for broad-scale discussion of national economic policy.

Also facing the returning legislators, who got a $12,500 yearly pay boost during their Lincoln's break, are possible controversial matters concerning malnutrition and the proposed name change of a House committee.

The House takes up Tuesday a resolution to change the name of its ever-controversial Committee on Un-American Activities to Committee on Internal Security.

Critics have announced they will try to abolish the committee as a separate entity and substitute a Judiciary subcommittee on security.

There is no indication their effort will fare better than earlier unsuccessful attempts to abolish or limit the committee.

In the Senate, a fight begins Tuesday on funds for a special committee on hunger and nutrition in the United States. The Rules Committee cut a financing request from $250,000 to $150,000.

Sickness, Mardi Gras Delay Trial

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Clay Shaw's trial on a charge of conspiring to assassinate President John F. Kennedy lagged behind schedule today—beset by sickness and Mardi Gras.

Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's prosecution team abruptly delayed calling former Texas Gov. John Connally and his wife—and left it uncertain whether they would testify at all.

In Houston, Mrs. Connally said the prosecution advised her by telephone Sunday "they would not be able to question us Monday." She was told the delay involved sickness and "witnesses stacking up."

Criminal Dist. Court Judge Edward A. Haggerty said the traffic snarl of Carnival also created local transport problems for the prosecution, complicating the process of moving witnesses in from Dallas.

Carnival's wild climax—Mardi Gras—comes up Tuesday. Haggerty has decided to recess trial that day.

The Connallys were among witnesses summoned by Garrison in an attempt to lay down a line of testimony indicating that more than one gunman shot the president, killed in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

Asked if the delay meant the Connallys might not be called, Asst. Dist. Atty. William Alford replied: "I can't comment on that."

Connally, sealed in front of Kennedy in an open limousine, was critically wounded when Kennedy was shot.

ROGERS, Ark. (AP) — The Bear Brand Hosiery Co. has announced it has signed a $300,000 contract to expand its present facilities here.

Tax Favored Groups Urged to Cooperate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two members of the Arkansas House today urged groups enjoying exemptions from state tax laws to make some concessions and offer a solution to the problems facing the General Assembly in financial matters.

The request came in a prepared statement by Reps. N.B. "Nap" Murphy of Hamburg and Joe Hamilton of Harrison.

The legislature has been asked by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller to impose a $80 million tax increase on Arkansas citizens.

The General Assembly first wanted to attempt to remove exemptions before passing additional taxes but with more than half of the session completed, no exemptions have been removed.

"We are concerned about the dilemma the General Assembly has been placed in with particular reference to revenues," the statement said.

"It is totally irresponsible for any organization to advocate general tax increases at the same time the interests they represent are enjoying certain tax exemptions," Murphy and Hamilton said.

Many groups appearing before legislative committees have testified that they would go along with tax increases affecting everyone.

The two lawmakers said the public had become aware of the exemptions being enjoyed by

Four Persons Are Killed in Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Four persons lost their lives in traffic accidents in Arkansas over the weekend, an Associated Press count showed.

The latest victim was Jullous Spencer Carmical, 26, of North Little Rock who was killed last Sunday night when the truck he was driving was struck by a Frisco train at a crossing at Hoxley.

State Police said Carmical was northbound on U.S. 67 when the accident occurred. Jeffery Miller, 9, of Norman was killed Sunday when the car he was riding in collided with a freight train at Wickes (Polk County). Sunday was the youngster's birthday.

Police said the boy's father, Basil, was attempting to drive the car across the tracks when the car stalled. Miller was attempting to help his son out of the car when the train struck it. Miller received head injuries and a broken hip. Two other passengers in the car managed to escape.

The other weekend victims were Luther Riley, 52, of Wilson and Mrs. Richard Helms of Jefferson, Iowa.

certain segments "which not only jeopardize this session but all future sessions as far as tax remedy and increase are concerned."

"Until these people come forward and make the necessary concessions there will, in all likelihood, be no tax increase or remedy," they said. "Therefore we urge the various segments of our economy to come forward and offer a solution to the problem that confronts the General Assembly at this time."

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The televised ice show—safe soothing family entertainment—used to be simply a performance caught by a camera.

But NBC's Sunday night "Ice Capades" was turned into a television show by the use of imagination and camera work and thus became one of the handsomest programs of the season.

The basic ingredients, of course, were still there—the skating chorus line, the graceful soloists, the novelty act, the baggy pants comedian. But the sparkling color, in sets and costumes, and the use of light and shadow as well as the use of the nonskating guest stars turned the hour into a gay treat for eye and ear.

One skating production number spoofed the secret agent theme. Another used Nancy Sinatra to model fur fashions while she sang and the skaters whirled around. Louis Nye integrated his comedy routines into the production numbers that followed.

Earlier NBC presented "Children's Letters to God," a half hour special that sprang from a published collection. All sorts of devices were used to illustrate the letters—cartoons, film showing children at play or at school. As one letter—"Dear God, Do you have to eat everything? I hate liver"—was read, the screen showed an unhappy youngster confronted with a plate of health food.

Children's voices were used to read the letters, and cameras eavesdropped on one group drawing a huge mural showing the creation of man. The youngsters' comments and the drawings were both fascinating.

It was a warm and effective short special, the kind that is hard to find since most of them—except for cartoon shows like CBS's Charlie Brown shows—run for an hour.

NBC's afternoon "Experiment in Television" was a frank, bitter drama about the illegitimate son of a black GI and a white German girl, who had grown up in Munich.

The story centered on a visit by the boy's American uncle—his father was dead—who found the young man rebellious and unhappy. The American Negro decided to stay in Germany and teach. But he ran into discrimination against skin color so sharp and distasteful that he decided to return to the United States, taking the boy with him because, "In the United States at least something is happening."

ABC, which canceled "Turn-On" after one performance, still has not found a replacement for the half-hour show. Thus far at least the next three Wednesday nights, it will fill the time by showing long feature movies. Films will start at 8:00 EST and run until 11.

Recommended tonight: "The Bob Hope Show," NBC, 9-10 EST, with Bing Crosby, the Supremes and Martha Raye; "Jack Benny's Birthday Show," NBC, 10-11, with Lucille Ball, Dan Blocker and Lawrence Welk.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

CPL. and MRS. LONNIE L. JOHNSON

The military wedding of Cpl. Lonnie L. Johnson to Carolyn Fay Spurbeck of Plymouth, Virginia on December 21, took place at the Norfolk Naval Ship Yard in Portsmouth Virginia. Commander Claude B. Marshall, U.S. Navy Chaplain, officiated at the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by Sgt. Charles Green, Marine Liaison. She wore a floor length candlelight satin gown trimmed in lace. Her veil was arranged from pearls and the lace train was attached from a bow at the shoulders. She carried a prayer book topped with baby pink rose buds.

The groom has as his best man, Cpl. Karl Vincent, a friend made during his tour of duty in Viet Nam. They wore the Marine Dress Blue uniforms for the ceremony.

Upon leaving the chapel, the couple were honored by a military Honor Guard followed by a reception at the home of Mrs. Ossie Shook, a friend of the bride. Immediately after the reception, the couple left for a short honeymoon to Camp LeJune, North Carolina. After March 15, they plan to make their temporary home in May Port, Florida.

Cpl. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schoeb of Washington, Arkansas, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cox of Hope. Cpl. Johnson is currently attached to the U.S.S. Saratoga, home ported in May Port, Florida.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Dear Helen: Four years ago she was a bride, tearfully kissing her husband goodbye as he left for Vietnam. She has not seen him since. She doesn't even know whether he is tortured or safe, sick or well—alive or dead. She only knows that his plane went down in North Vietnam, and others of his crew were captured as prisoners of war. She hopes and prays—but she never hears. In four years she has received no word.

She is one of over 800 wives . . . mothers . . . families, who live in a nightmare of fear. North Vietnam has never released the number nor a complete list of the Americans it is holding prisoner. North Vietnam has refused to abide by the Geneva Conventions which it signed, concerning the rights of prisoners of war. Very few families have been swallowed up. The few who get letters out can say nothing except "I am alive." And these letters are pitifully scarce, perhaps one in two years, sometimes written six months before delivery. Can you imagine the agony suffered by those who wait at home?

I can, as our son is a prisoner of war in North Vietnam. We, at least, know that he is alive; his wife has a treasured letter. It keeps our hopes high, and it those who don't know. . .

For this reason I'm asking your help, Helen. Won't you please print the following message:

"TO ALL AMERICANS kept uppermost in the minds of our leaders!

as well as to President Richard M. Nixon, the White House, Washington, D.C. and to your Congressmen.—H.

"Our daughter-in-law, as a member of 'The League of Wives of American Vietnam Prisoners of War,' is publicly requesting that our Government work harder in securing the rights and release of these Americans. These devoted wives are asking that all interested Americans help by sending telegrams or letters to Washington. The Geneva Conventions should be honored. Our Government should demand this of North Vietnam.

"Please ask your friends to help by sending their own personal messages. Write your President, your Congressman, your Senators, your Governor. The prisoner of war situation must be our leaders!

"This is the first time these courageous young women have asked us to support them. As a mother personally involved I will be most grateful if your messages are sent."—MOTHER OF A PRISONER OF WAR

Dear Mother: May your touching letter bring support from all America! And may the prisoners of war—and all our Servicemen—be home soon!

Remodeling of Saenger Completed

With remodeling of the Saenger Theatre now completed, making it one of the finest theatres in Arkansas, and with the new modern sound and projection added to the Saenger, Mrs. Velda Seamans announced today that she is bringing back for special return engagements during weekdays the outstanding roadshow attractions of the past year at regular prices.

"Many people missed these great attractions," said Mrs. Seamans, "and many want to see and enjoy them again with our greatly improved sound and projection. For example, 'Sound of Music' with our new sound will bring new magic to those who see it, even though they have seen it two or three times before. One person in Dallas, Texas paid to see 'Sound of Music' 47 times."

The first of the return engagements will be this Tuesday and Wednesday when "Barbarella" with Jane Fonda returns to the Saenger. This film is fantastically filmed—and is a spoof on sex, space ships, trips to the moons, Spaceman and many other things, including a new use for the pill.

This return will be followed by the first run showing of the much discussed motion picture, "The Swimmer" starring Burt Lancaster. Stories about this film have appeared in about every national magazine. This will be followed by the return showing of "Sound of Music"—"Hawaii"—"The Bible" and "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

"If the people of Hope wish us to return these big pictures in our new luxurious theatre, we would appreciate it if they would tell us what pictures they would like to see. If we get more than one or two requests for any picture we will see that it is brought back during our GIANT MOVIE SERIES," said Mrs. Seamans.

STITCHIN' TIME

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

Do you need an ego boost, all you 40 million creative sewers? Here it is: Pete Fountain, a bearded pixie who plays the greatest jazz clarinet in New Orleans, thinks you're wonderful. So wonderful that he has dedicated his latest composition to you.

For proof, head for the fabrics section of a big department store, and cock an ear for the unmistakable lilt of Pete's music, backed by his famous Bourbon Street Ten. You will be hearing his new number which is being used as the theme for a fabrics-and-fashions film titled "Music to Sew By." And—if you follow the music—you'll see the movie and Pete himself as he leads a fashion parade of eight pretty models around New Orleans.

Just what special fashions does Pete find right for his parade? He beams his approval of the many-splendored Burlington fabrics used for day-through-evening outfits as he enters into the spirit of the sightseeing tour. As the captain of the Mark Twain riverboat, he sights daytime separates in crisp checks. As a vegetable-vendor in the French Quarter,

Tiptop Shape

Don't forget the tops of refrigerators, door frames, etc., when doing your cleaning. Children's cleaning tools with handles add inches to your height for dusting these hard-to-reach places.

Retain Their Shape

Sneakers or other washable shoes should be placed on a flat surface and airedried so they will retain their shape.

For Clean Training Seat

Chlorine bleach will keep baby's training seat hygienically clean. Wash with a solution of 1/4-cup of bleach per gallon of hot water.

That's Pete Fountain himself driving the surrey. The smiling model is wearing a bright suit of Burlington's bonded woollike check in crisp red, white and blue.

he nods approval of soft-silhouette afternoon dresses of gentle wool-like boned. As a wine steward in the cellar at Antoine's, he likes the flowing effect of a floor-length shirt dress in sheer dotted voile. As the driver of a real fringed surrey, he likes a two-piece costume of bright red-white-and-blue checks.

But in his real role—owner of Pete's Place, and clarinetist extraordinaire—he likes fashions that are just as swinging as the music.

Not surprisingly, Pete's best audience is the group which does most of the creative home sewing: Most are under 35, middle-to-upper income brackets, and very knowledgeable about changing fashions, new developments in fabrics, and new techniques in sewing. In short, they are swingers—just like Pete himself.

Gene Littler Would Like Duplication

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Delft-putting Gene Littler, winner of the $100,000 Phoenix Open golf title, with a record 263, now seeks to duplicate his consecutive Arizona victories of 10 years ago.

The 38-year-old from San Diego won the Phoenix Open a decade ago with a 268 and then captured the title at Tucson where this year's tournament starts on Thursday.

"I'd say it was probably the best 72-holes I've ever played," declared Littler of his tours over the 6,389 yard Arizona Country Club course. On Saturday he equaled the course record with a nine-under-par 62 and he finished the 72 holes 21 strokes below regulation figures.

Littler still came up to the 18th needing a par to win since Miller Barber, Don January and Billy Maxwell each had carded a 265 and waited to see if there would be a play-off. When the three ended up in a tie, they each received $7,733.

Gene's second shot on the par-5 hole landed just short of the green. He chipped up close to the cup and holed out for a birdie to give him a two-stroke bulge over the trio.

To get his $20,000 first prize, Littler shot a 69, 66, 62, 66, and the first five sent him ahead among golf's money winners for 1969 with $47,902. It also marked his first tournament victory since the 1965 Canadian Open.

Littler won the Phoenix Open in 1955 and 1959.

Tied at 267, a stroke behind the previous tournament record shared by South Africa's Bobby Locke and Littler, in his 1959 victory, were Ray Floyd, Terry Wilcox and Jack Ewing, who finished with 66, 67, 68 respectively.

Barber sank a 10-foot putt for an eagle on the 18th for his 64 to go into the three-way tie for second with January, 66, and Maxwell 66.

Heading for Tucson and play at the Tucson National Golf Club, Littler recalled, "I played well there once, but not so well the other times. The greens are gigantic. I prefer small greens where you can keep your perspective."

Of his final round in Phoenix, he commented, "I putted well, but other than that, I didn't play too well."

Colegate's Football Coach Dies

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) — Andrew "Andy" Kerr, fondly known during his 18 years as Colgate University's head football coach as The canny Scot of the Chenango, died Sunday in Tucson, Ariz. He was 90.

The small, wiry protégé of Glenn S. "Pop" Warner led the Colgate Red Raiders to 95 victories, 50 defeats and seven ties. The 95th was on Thanksgiving Day 1946, when they beat Brown, and Kerr, having reached the school's mandatory retirement age of 68, retired after his 152nd game as their coach.

In Tucson, Dr. Delbert Secrist said Kerr apparently died from hardening of the arteries and a leak in his abdominal aorta.

Secrist, who played as a right end for Kerr at Washington and Jefferson, said he had been treating his former coach for diabetes. He said Kerr went into a diabetic coma Wednesday night, but apparently came out of it Saturday.

"I am sure anyone who ever played for Andy would have given him his right arm," Secrist said. "He was a great guy."

Arizona Mortuary said the body would be sent back to Hamilton, N.Y., for services and burial.

Kerr and razzle dazzle football are synonymous. His fascination with the Warner style began in his school days, when his stockman father moved the family from Kerr's native Cheyenne, Wyo., to Carlisle, Pa.

Len Meacaluso, John Oris, Bob Smith, Charles Wasieleski and Ernie Nevers were among the several outstanding football players Kerr had a hand in developing.

Men Line Is Favorite at Oaklawn

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—F. H. Lindsay's Men Line, who had little trouble winning here on opening day, was expected to be sent off as the favorite in today's $5,000 featured race at Oaklawn Park.

The 5½-furlong allowance event is for 3-and-4-year-old fillies.

Hem Line will carry 112 pounds with jockey Mike McDowell aboard.

Also expected to receive consideration is Hood and Bells, owned by Daniel W. Scott II. She will be seeking her second victory of the meet. She will be carrying 105 pounds with Phil Grimm aboard.

Rounding out the field of 12 are Miss Suzaki (118), Gay Julie (118), Noholme's Gal (121), Canning Fox (121), Mystie Isle (121), Sovereign's Gypsy (118), Charshido (118), Su Ka Rose (114), and Stratton (112).

Through eight days of the meet, Lanny Ray and Larry Snyder are tied for riding honors with nine victories each. Snyder has been the busiest jockey with 42 mounts, and he has an edge over Ray in show and place horses. Eight of Snyder's mounts have finished second and six third. Ray has been about 38 times and five of his have finished second and five third. Ray was suspended for five days last Friday for careless riding. The suspension ends Friday.

Grimm has booted some eight winners, four seconds and three thirds. McDowell has had four winners.

The leading trainer is Doug Davis Jr. with 13 winners, four seconds and four thirds. W. R. Morris has five winners and one place, and E. C. Mahoney has four winners, one place and two shows.

Len Meacaluso, John Oris, Bob Smith, Charles Wasieleski and Ernie Nevers were among the several outstanding football players Kerr had a hand in developing.

Villanova Sets 2-Mile Record

By KEN HOSKINS
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Villanova came to Louisville's Mason-Dixon Games looking for an indoor world record in the two-mile relay—and got it.

But there was a bonus in the deal for the Pennsylvania speedsters—Larry James' world record 55.4 seconds in the 500-yard run.

"Yes, we hoped we could get it," said assistant coach Jack Pyrah, referring to the record time of 7:22.8 for the relay last Saturday night.

Andy O'Reilly led off with a 1:51.6 leg for the lead, but Chris Mason fell behind with a 1:51.1 clocking. Speedy Martin Liquori regained the Villanova lead in the third leg with a 1:50.7, and Frank Murphy assured the record with his 1:49.4 anchor leg, his best timing ever for the distance.

James' record-breaking was the unplanned event of the meet. Pyrah said James had not been entered in the 500-yard run but consented to run when three scheduled competitors dropped out early Saturday.

James' time in the 500 clipped one tenth second off the old mark first set by Earl Young of the Southern California Striders at the games here in 1963. Wendell Motley of Yale equaled the previous mark Jan. 11, 1964.

Villanova's time for the two-mile relay bettered the school's previous world record of 7:23.7, set here last year. Murphy was the only returning member of that foursome.

Another mark fell in the games, with Willie Davenport of the Nouston Striders winning in 7.8 seconds, two-tenths better than the old mark set here in 1962 by Hayes Jones of The Craftsman Athletic Club.

Met Pender of the U.S. Army came back from a second place heat finish at 7.1 seconds to capture a run-off heat in 7.0 and win the event in 6.8, tying his own world record set here in 1965.

In the women's 70-yard low hurdles Mamie Rallins of the Mayor Daley Youth Foundation of Chicago equaled her world mark of 8.7 seconds.

Robinson Is Great But Team Loses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When it comes to handouts, you can't beat Oscar Robertson. But you can beat the Cincinnati Royals—even if you're the Phoenix Suns who haven't beaten hardly anyone all season long.

Robertson handed out eight assists Sunday to move into the No. 1 spot on the National Basketball Association all-time list with 6,949.

But Robertson's Royals lost 125-113 to the Suns who were winning for just the 14th time against 48 losses.

Flynn Robinson pumped in 41 points to pace the Milwaukee Bucks to their 18th victory in 63 games, a 106-97 surprise over Western Division leading Los Angeles.

In other NBA action, Philadelphia threatened Boston 127-102, San Francisco took Atlanta 113-106 and Seattle topped Detroit 127-119.

Sunday's American Basketball League play saw Dallas nip Oakland 119-116, Miami edge Houston 113-108, Denver downed New Orleans 105-94, Kentucky blast Los Angeles 123-99 and New York take Indiana 112-96.

Robertson's eight assists moved him past Boston's retired Bob Cousy, who accounted for 6,949 in 13 seasons. Robertson is in his ninth year.

But the Big O couldn't stop the Suns, who broke the game open in the fourth quarter when Carl Goodrich scored 19 of his 25 points. Dick Van Arsdale scored 22 points for the Suns, and his twin brother, Tom, got 23 for Cincinnati.

Robinson put in 19 of his 41 points in the third period as Milwaukee built up a 77-69 lead and held on. Wilt Chamberlain paced Los Angeles with 29 points.

Philadelphia moved to a 28-18 lead over Boston in the first period and never was headed as Hal Greer scored 29 points and Wally Jones 25. Sam Jones topped Boston with 30.

Nate Thurmond accounted for 35 points and Jeff Mullins 25 to lead San Francisco past Atlanta. Zelmo Beaty scored 29 for the losers.

Seattle's victory over Detroit was keyed by Bob Rule, who scored 36 points, and Lenny Wilkens, who scored 34 and

'Patience' First Problem, Says Williams

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ted Williams—baseball's fierce, feuding perfectionist—concedes his first problem as manager of the hapless Washington Senators will be patience.

Attorneys met today to put the wrapping on the rich package of stock that will make Williams the part-owner as well as manager of the Senators in an apparent million-dollar deal.

Although the formal announcement by the Senators at a news conference is not expected before Tuesday, Williams already is itching to get back into the game.

"I'm ready to go," he said. "I'm really getting excited about it."

Williams, baseball's greatest living hitter with a career average of .344, will be taking over a last-place team that hasn't been able to escape the American League's second division for 22 straight years.

The Boston Red Sox slugger, still remembered for historic feuds with fans, admits his nerves may be on trial with the sickly Senators.

"I remember the last few years when I would sit out the second game of doubleheaders. I would be a nervous wreck," Williams said. "The emotional part is going to be the problem. The patience part."

Spring training is only a week away for Washington, and Williams, after eight years outside baseball, is finding not only the rest of the league but even the Senators' roster crowded with strange names he doesn't know.

Williams said he is anxious to take up the challenge, to prove himself again as manager after having been one of the game's greatest players.

The Hall of Fame hitter joked. "I may end up with an ulcer. I've seen these managers and I've asked them how they feel and they say 'fine'—but they look awful."

The Senators are prepared to sign Williams to a long-range contract running from three to five years at something beyond $50,000 annually.

Williams will also get options to buy a bundle of stock in the club—perhaps 10 per cent, or $900,000 worth.

The Senators' new owner, Robert E. Short, who bought the club less than a month ago, wouldn't discuss reports that Williams will be baseball's first million-dollar manager.

"I don't know how they figure it. I don't want to say anything about it now," Short said.

Short, a Minnesota millionaire, was flying back here from his home later today. Williams spent what could be his last peaceful weekend for a long time at his retreat in the Florida Keys.

Skydiver Loses New Husband

RICHLAND CENTER, Wis. (AP) — An attractive blonde skydiver left her new husband at an airborne altar Sunday and dropped 4,500 feet out of sight with the best man.

John J. Battalio of Madison and the former Lynn Marie Tesser, members of the University of Wisconsin Skydiving Club, were married in a four-passenger Cessna 180, from which the bride then jumped clutching a corsage.

The bride wore a white jumpsuit, which was soiled when she ended her parachute leap sitting in what she called the only mud puddle in evidence in the otherwise frozen southwestern Wisconsin countryside.

The best man, Patrick Powers of Middleton accompanied her on the freefall. The bridegroom had to cancel his participation in the jump because he injured his shoulder Saturday during a practice jump.

Road Trip Fatal to Bobcats

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Road trips in Region 4-AA seldom produce good results for the traveler, and the Arkadelphia Badgers kept up the trend by overrunning the Hope Bobcats 68-47 last Saturday night in the AHS fieldhouse.

After watching their varsity slip past the Hope "B" Lizards 47-38 in the opener, the Badgers raced to their third victory in eight 4-AA West contests. Hope remains in the cellar with an 0-8 conference record and a 6-15 mark overall.

For the first six minutes neither squad could hit, and felt each other out with stingy defenses. The Bobcats never led, but scored two straight baskets to gain an 8-8 standoff with 2:02 left in the period.

That was the last tie, as the Arkadelphia half-court press began forcing numerous Hope turnovers and Bobcats were hit with a deluge of fouls. Leading 12-8 at the quarter, the Badgers started finding good success on set plays against the locals' zone defense, and the score skyrocketed.

Hope was to endure the entire second period without a single field goal, while Arkadelphia was producing points with 6-1 soph Bill Vining underneath, guards Mike McMaster and Freddie Lookadoo banging away from outside.

Vining had 10 points, McMaster seven, and Lookadoo five for the second period, which with a 22-2 spread gave Arkadelphia a commanding 34-10 margin at the half.

Nobody could take command for the Bobcats, as Coach Bob Johnston of Arkadelphia watched his reserves take over five minutes into the second half, leading 47-18. The Badger scramblers were looser on defense, though they tallied a good number of points.

Arkadelphia fans became nearly hostile toward the end, as play was ragged and many fouls were called.

The trip wrapped up the road season for the Bobcats, who close the regular season with home games this weekend against Fairview on Friday and Malvern on Saturday.

Arkadelphia's "B" squad in the prelim rolled up an 18-0 lead after the first quarter, as the Hope boys would go the whole first half with just six free throws to trail 31-6.

Play balanced out in the final two periods as the locals' implemented a fast break well enough to put the deficit 20 points in the final quarter alone.

Johnny Johnson recorded 14 points to lead the "B" Lizards, while Phil Watkins and Thomas Norvell sank eight apiece. Parker Powell totaled five, Charles Rateliff had two and Doug Cross one to wrap up the Hope side. Bill Hurley hit 11 points and Johnny Harris seven to pace a balanced Arkadelphia attack.

Arkansas Is Edged by Mustangs

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Writer

Texas A&M basketball script writers have a tough assignment for Tuesday's Southwest Conference duel with Baylor in the last meeting, the Bears stole the Aggies' lines and won, 66-65.

Most A&M endings are written the same. The Aggies are losing along several points behind in the closing minutes when suddenly they swoosh forward to win at the final buzzer, usually by one point or in overtime.

Like Saturday night, when Rice had A&M down 70-61 with 4:08 to go. Sure enough, the Aggies went into their storm trooper full court press, tied the game at the buzzer and won the game in overtime, 84-83, for their fifth one-point conference victory.

The Aggies have no time to take a bow for their performance. A loss to Baylor Tuesday would throw the Bears into a tie for the lead with 8-2 records. SMU could also grab a share of the lead with a victory over TCU, should the Aggies lose.

Arkansas is at Texas Tech and Rice is at Texas in other Conference matches Tuesday.

While others are trying to find the Aggies' good luck charm, Baylor coach Bill Menefee is busy analyzing their success and he thinks it can be wrapped in one word—resourcefulness.

"The thing that impresses me about the Aggies is that they have been a resourceful team," Menefee said. "When teams have been able to play close or ahead of them, they have been able to play a zone or man-to-man press effectively."

"They have been able to fall and still come back to capture the lead."

While the Aggies were keeping the lead Saturday, SMU tripped Arkansas 76-68, Baylor whipped Texas 63-58 and TCU nabbed Tech 99-79.

Aggie Coach Shelby Metcalf was elated over the Rice victory. "If you wrote a fishing story like that, no one would believe you. There's no way you can play closer than that," Rice Coach Don Knodel was a bit stunned. "Our kids are playing well enough to be winning, I just don't know the answer."

In the conference now Texas Tech, Texas, Rice and Arkansas are all tied at 3-6. Defending champion TCU is in the cellar with a 2-7 record.

The U.S. postmaster general is appointed to hold office during the term of the president and one month thereafter.

WHEN THE Desert Inn Showgirls play their basketball games, they have no trouble getting crowd approval. Their uniforms are leotards and before each game they are introduced by name, color of hair and eyes, and, of course, vital measurements. They are undefeated in four games so far.

7 of 8 Teams Already Set for Tourney

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball tournament begins Saturday night on four college campuses with seven of the eight team field already set.

Five AIC schools, Ouachita, Arkansas Tech, Southern State, State College of Arkansas and Harding, already have clinched berths. The sixth spot for AIC teams is up for grabs among Arkansas College, Hendrix and Arkansas A&M.

The three-day tournament matches six AIC teams and two independents from NAIA District 17. The winner goes into a best two-of-three playoff a week later against the AIC champion.

Independent entries selected by the District 17 Committee over the weekend were Arkansas AM&N and John Brown University.

First-round games will be held on the home courts of the AIC's second, third, fourth and fifth place teams Saturday night. Monday night, the four winners will move into Pine Bluff for the semifinals and finals.

Title at Stake in Ouachita, Reddie Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Henderson and Ouachita never need any extra incentive when the two Arkadelphia schools engage in athletic activity. Tonight, however, when the two teams meet on Henderson's home court, the championship of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference will be at stake.

Henderson already has assured itself of at least a tie for the conference title, and a victory for the Reddies would give them the outright championship for the second straight season.

Ouachita 13-3, is runner-up to Henderson in league play and a victory for the Tigers tonight would clinch a second place finish for them. A victory also would keep alive OBU's chances at sharing the crown with Henderson, 15-1.

Henderson will close out its regular schedule Thursday night at State College and should the Reddies lost against Ouachita they still could get a clear-cut title with a victory over SCA.

Henderson's one AIC defeat this season was a 93-82 loss at Arkansas Tech in early January. Ouachita dropped its first match with Henderson 69-59, and also lost road games at Hendrix and Arkansas A&M.

In other games tonight, Arkansas College is at A&M, Southern State is at Tech, SCA is at Hendrix and Ozarks is at Harding.

THE WELL CHILD

Allergy May Be Cause Of Child's Bedwetting

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

A small bladder or emotional upsets are usually assumed to be the cause of persistent bedwetting in children who are over 3. The fact that the problem is not that simple has been demonstrated by Dr. J. W. Gerrard at the University of Saskatchewan. He had been using all the known treatments on a 12-year-old girl without any appreciable success when he learned that her baby brother was allergic to milk.

He removed milk from the diets of both children and within two weeks the older child's bedwetting stopped completely. She was so happy about this she refused to drink milk to confirm the doctor's belief that an allergy was the true cause of her trouble. When, sometime later, she ate some ice cream, she wet the bed

Q—Is it healthy to let a child sleep in a room without a little circulating fresh air?

A—Although the circulation of fresh air is necessary for comfort in the summer, in winter there is enough air movement through porous walls and ceilings and around windows and doors
to supply the body's needs.
The air doesn't have to be cold to be fresh. Cold drafts should be avoided.

Q—My son, 7, has had repeated colds. I have heard that a deficiency of the gamma globulin might be the cause. If so, what is the recommended treatment?

A—Agammaglobulinemia
is a disease that, like color blindness, can be inherited by a boy from his mother.
Girls may carry the gene
but do not have the disease.
The victim has difficulty fighting any kind of infection. An injection of gamma globulin helps the victim to get over an infection for which there is no effective antibiotic, but the effect is not lasting. There is at present no lasting cure.

Originated Phrase
The phrase, "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it," is generally credited to Mark Twain, but it is believed to have originated with Charles Dudley Warner, a coauthor with Twain of
"The Gilded Age."

SPCT Prex Touts The Lowly Turtle

By ROGER DOUGHTY
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The proud eagle, long America's official emblem, doesn't deserve to be where he is today, claims Andrew Paretti, president of the SPCT (Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Turtles). "The eagle has had good public relations," says Paretti, "but if the truth be known, Americans would insist that the turtle take his place."

For years Americans have been lionizing cats, dogs, donkeys and elephants, as well as eagles, but turtles have been the brunt of jokes.
We concede that the humble tortoise once whipped a rabbit in a race, but that's about it. Even bears and dolphins have their own TV shows
these days, but how often do you see a turtle on the tube?

"It's unfair," says Paretti.
"If it weren't for the turtle, we probably wouldn't be here at all."

According to the story, Columbus (who may or may not have discovered America, but at least managed to get a city in Ohio and a circle in New York named after him) practically lived on nothing but turtle meat.

"Ships of that era didn't have refrigerators," explains Paretti, "so keeping fresh meat on board was a problem. But turtles can be kept alive, out of water, for eight weeks. Columbus loaded up on some while he was over here so his men would have something to eat on the way back. If he hadn't, he probably wouldn't have made it.

Where would we be today?"

Paretti's interest in turtles is not all that pure. He imports them so he can make them into soup, but in the process he has come to admire the noble reptile.

According to the champion of the tortoise set, turtles even played a key role in World War II.

"The Germans have always been very fond of turtles," he says, "and during the war they often came to the surface in U-boats and stopped fishing ships in order to relieve them of their turtle supply. For awhile
the situation was quite critical."

Even the Russians, who are generally thought of as being the bad guys these days, think more of turtles than we do. Only recently Soviet scientists revealed that they sent a flock of turtles on a pioneer mission around the moon and back to earth to prepare the way for a manned flight.

First a missile gap, then a submarine gap, now a turtle gap.

Paretti's crusade to gain the turtle his rightful place in society is pretty much of a one-man campaign at the moment, but he thinks it will catch on in time, which figures.

It has been more than 476
years since the tortoisestuffed Columbus set foot on our shores, but maybe, with a little bit of luck, the turtle will finally catch up with the eagle and take his rightful place in the history books
along with Hudson, DeSoto, Columbus and, eh, Leif Eric-son.

Jim: "Here is a letter from J. Edward Morrow of Joplin, Mo. Sounds as if he might be an old friend."

Oswald: "He certainly is.
When I first came to Dallas
Jed was a reporter on the Dallas News who doubled in brass by teaching bridge and writing a weekly bridge column. He attended your parents' wedding and has known you since you were born. You don't remember him because he retired 30 years ago and moved to Joplin. He is at least 80 years young and maybe 90.
He and Mrs. Morrow are still regular duplicate players although they don't get far from Joplin."

Jim: "He encloses an interesting hand. I notice that you tend to bid more as you get older, and apparently
Mr. Morrow has this tendency."

Oswald: "Let's see. He checked for aces and kings and put Mrs. Morrow in seven clubs when she showed the missing ones."

Jim: "You wouldn't bid that way with mother. You might go all the way to seven no-trump, but I guess you would settle for six."

Oswald: "That would be a pretty good contract at match points."

Jim: "You can't blame West for doubling. He must have been really mad when Mrs. Morrow proceeded to make the contract."

Oswald: "Jed calls the play a left-hand coup because it is made against the left-hand opponent. Mrs.
Morrow led a club to her ace at trick two and got the news about the 5-0 trump break. Many players might have conceded down one but Mrs. Morrow played it out.
She took her ace of clubs and finessed her nine. Then she led the three to dummy's eight so that dummy was left with the king-jack of clubs in back of West's queen-10.
Then she just cashed her high cards in the other suits, making sure to wind up in her own hand. Poor West had to follow suit until finally Mrs. Morrow led a spade at trick 12. West had to ruff and dummy overruffed."

Hockey's Senior Citizen's Have Fine Night

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Writer

It was a night for the senior citizens in the National Hockey League.

Detroit's Gordie Howe, six weeks short of his 41st birthday, scored three goals and led the Red Wings to a 6-3 victory over Los Angeles. And goalie Glenn Hall, 37, and Gump Worsley, 39, turned in important shutouts as St. Louis blanked Minnesota 6-0 and Montreal shut out Pittsburgh 4-0.

In other Sunday games, New York dropped Toronto 4-2, Chicago whacked Boston 5-1, and Philadelphia shaded Oakland 3-2.

In Saturday's action, Montreal tripped Boston 3-1, Toronto rapped New York 6-2, Minnesota took Detroit 6-2, Chicago blanked Philadelphia 3-0, St. Louis downed Los Angeles 4-1 and Oakland battled Pittsburgh to a 4-4 tie.

Howe's 18th career hat trick gave him 33 goals for the season and 721 for his career. The NHL's all time leading scorer hit twice in the third period as the Red Wings rallied with three goals in just over five minutes to snap a 3-3 tie.

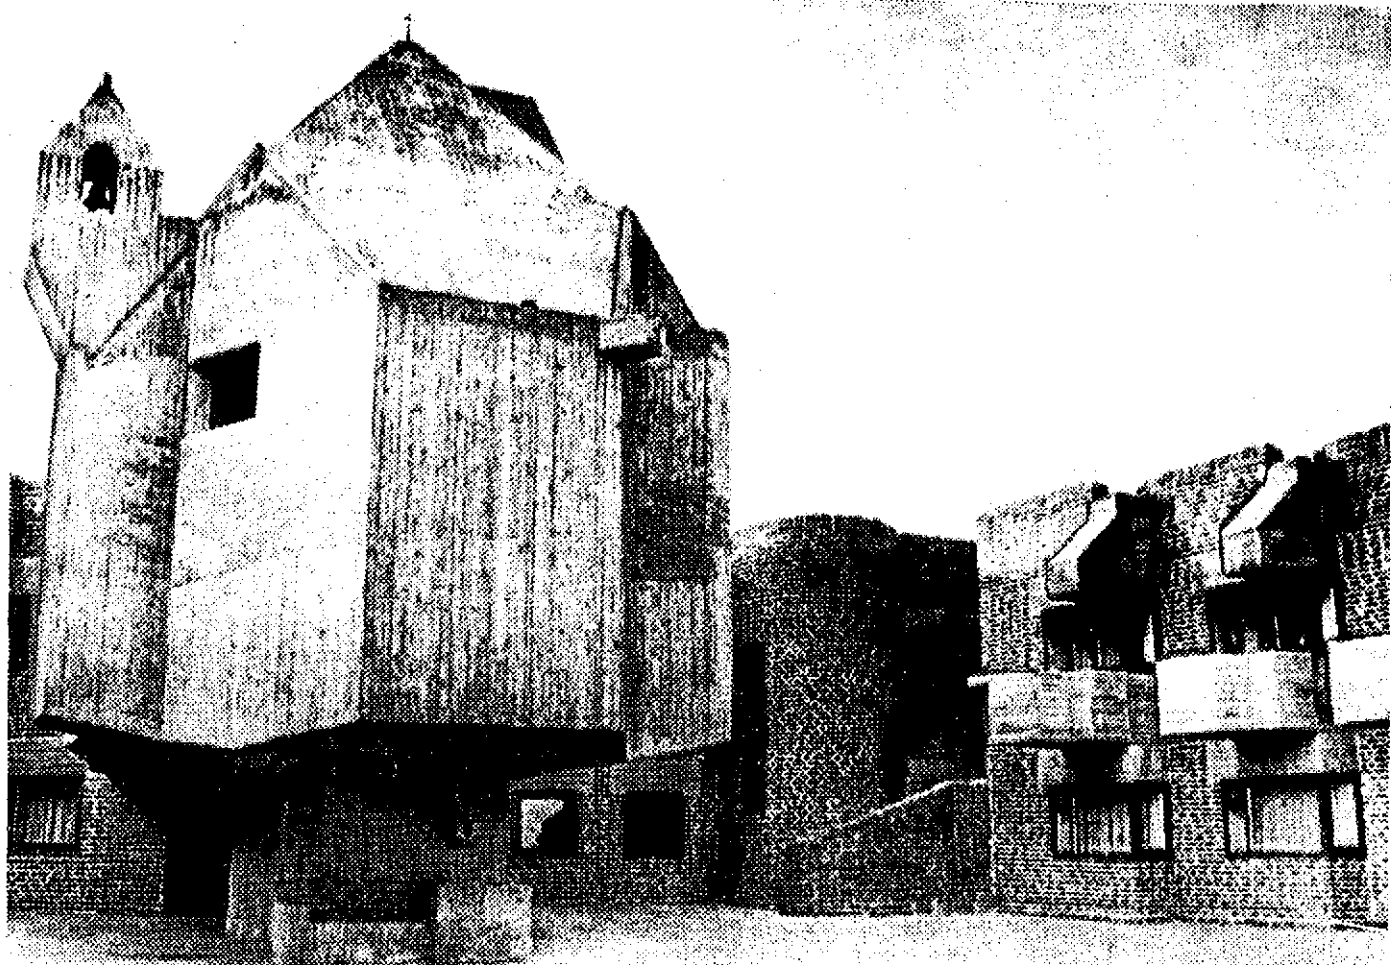

Carry Under scored twice and Wayne Connolly, acquired in a weekend trade with Minnesota, also clicked for Detroit. Bill Flett had a pair for Los Angeles.

Alex Delvecchio picked up his 1,000th NHL career point for Detroit. Howe and Montreal's Jean Beliveau are the only other players ever to reach that plateau.

Hall's eighth shutout of the season helped St. Louis tie an NHL record. Combined with five shutouts by Jacques Plante, another veteran goalie, Hall's eight blankings give the Blues 13 for the season matching the mark set in 1952-53 by Toronto's Harry Lumley and Terry Sawchuk and Dave Garthraum of Detroit.

Hall, who now has 81 career shutouts, also picked up an assist on a third-period goal by Terry Crisp. Larry Keenan scored twice for St. Louis.

Worsley kicked out 36 Pittsburgh shots and enabled Montreal to move into a tie for first place in the NHL's East Division with Boston.

The Canadiens, unbeaten in the last seven games, got two goals from Ralph Backstrom and one each from Dick Duff and Yvan Cournoyer as well as spectacular goalkeeping from Worsley, who made half a dozen sensational stops to preserve his 38th career shutout.

Chicago bombed Boston with 22 shots in the opening period and 51 for the game, tagging the injury-riddled Bruins with their second straight loss. Bobby Hull and Doug Mohns scored first-period goals and the Hawks carried play the rest of the way.

The Rangers got goals from their highest scorer—Vic Hadfield—and their lowest scorer—Larry Jeffrey—59 seconds apart in the first period, triggering their victory over Toronto. Hadfield's 23rd of the season and Jeffrey's first gave New York a 2-0 lead and the Maple Leafs never got even.

Defenseman Larry Hale scored a pair of goals and Philadelphia ended a nine-game winless string by beating Oakland.

Biafra Going After Aid From U.S.

By DAVID MAZZARELLA
Associated Press Writer

UMUAHIA, Biafra (AP) — After getting a measure of support from France, Biafra is going after the diplomatic jackpot-backing from the United States.

The accession of the Nixon Administration, a sharp increase in private and government relief aid from the United States for refugees and visits by U.S. congressmen have given the Biafrans the idea that the time is ripe for wooing Washington.

The Biafrans were pleased by the visit of the first official U.S. congressional delegation to go to both sides in the Nigerian civil war. The delegation, headed by Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr., D-Mich., left Saturday night after a two-day stay.

Earlier Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., visited both Lagos and Biafra. He said he would report to President Nixon and to Secretary of State William Rogers on his return.

The avowed aim of both visits was to study ways of relieving famine. But the Biafrans are confident the congressmen will report on the political and military situation as well.

For the American visitors, Lt. Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu and Biafra's other leaders had one main theme—they regard relief as "a palliative at best," and say the United States should re-evaluate its entire policy toward Nigeria and Biafra.

The Biafrans have been vague and at times contradictory in saying what they want from Washington.

Ojukwu has said the United States has "a great potential for peace" in the region and can be a mediator if it acts quickly. But outright support would please most Biafrans more.

Only a few months ago, the Biafrans were condemning the United States almost as strongly as they do Britain, because American recalcitrant rifles were captured from the Nigerians. Now the Biafran leaders say they are "prepared to believe" that American arms for Nigeria was never a matter of U.S. policy.

Britain has supplied arms to the federal government in great quantity. The Biafrans do not seem to expect important support from diplomatic quarters other than the United States at the present time. They say they have "given up" on the British government, and that there is no hope of the African nations settling the war because "outside powers"—Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States—bear responsibility for the conflict.

The Biafrans say they are immensely grateful to President Charles de Gaulle for describing Biafra as a "reality" and giving them aid. But they say this support has caused other problems.

"Now the British government presents itself to its people as the protector of British interests in Nigeria against the French," said one official.

The Biafrans say they realize Washington is in a ticklish situation, with both the Soviet Union and its old ally—Britain—supporting the Nigerian federation from which Biafra proclaimed its independence in July 1967.

But Biafran military men spoke openly of their hope of getting arms from America. Government leaders say withdrawal of U.S. backing for British policy would be enough.

The Biafrans believe American public opinion is swinging their way and that President Nixon, after a reappraisal of policy, will find support for Biafra in America's interests.

They are hoping the Nixon Administration—which they consider to be more staunch in its anticommunism than the Johnson Administration—will respond to the Biafran argument that the Soviet Union is becoming firmly entrenched on the federal side and might secure an important foothold in Africa. Moscow has supplied the MIG and Ilyushin jets with which the Nigerians do most of their bombing in Biafra.

Knowles Hopes to Withdraw Nat'l Guards

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles says he hopes he can withdraw today the 1,900 National Guardsmen who patrolled last week's student disorders at the University of Wisconsin. The campus was quiet over the weekend.

The governor expressed his hope for early withdrawal during a Sunday visit to an armory where some of the troops were stationed after students began a classroom boycott a week ago in support of Negro demands.

"We've got to maintain law and order, or our democracy will be gone," the Republican governor said.

An estimated 27 persons were taken into custody last week during brief clashes with police and guardsmen. There were few injuries, and demonstration leaders continually urged protesters to avoid conflicts with the officers.

Knowles had begun calling National Guardsmen to the 33,000-student campus Wednesday. Negro leaders' appeals for support produced up to 5,000 participants for marches to the state Capitol eight blocks from the campus, and 10,000 for a Thursday night march.

But the week's classroom boycott did not seriously diminish class attendance, the university said, and a demonstration scheduled Saturday at a track meet did not materialize.

The eight Negro members of Wisconsin's champion Big Ten Conference indoor track team, however, boycotted the meet. The track team coach said there would be no reprisals and the absentees announced they were returning to the team.

The state Senate, at Knowles' suggestion, approved a bill to withhold financial aid from college students convicted of disrupting campuses, and sent the measure to the state Assembly.

The Wisconsin division of the American Civil Liberties Union, whose state executive director said the senators acted "in an atmosphere of hysteria," urged the Assembly not to vote on the bill without holding a public hearing.

Catholics Are Reminded of Lent

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI described Lent as a time for Roman Catholics to remember the "duty of penitence."

The Pope told thousands gathered in St. Peter's Square Sunday: "It is a period that recalls to us the duty of penitence... and that above all compels us to a decisive meeting with Christ, in the current Pascal mystery which is of His (Christ's) redemption and of our salvation."

Pueblo Crew Had Faith in America

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — "We came out of this thing with amazing morale," said the Pueblo's executive officer.

"There was no brainwashing. If anybody was brainwashed, it was the other side."

After the crew's return in December from North Korean imprisonment, Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., also told newsmen "We had absolute faith in the American government."

Murphy was recalled to testify today before a Navy court of inquiry shifting its focus from the mission and capture of the U.S. intelligence ship to the imprisonment of its men.

This begins the third and final phase of the court's month-long investigation ordered by the commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet.

The court of five admirals returned Saturday from what its president, Vice Adm. Harold G. Bowen Jr., described as an extremely useful inspection of the USS Palm Beach.

The Palm Beach, a sister ship of the Pueblo based at Norfolk, Va., gave the court "an appreciation of the situation on the Pueblo," said the civilian attorney for Pueblo skipper Lloyd M. Bucher.

Bucher stayed in San Diego doing administrative work for his crew and spending some time with his family.

eting began with Negroes demanding an autonomous department of Negro affairs, special curriculum and full student control over hiring of instructors for Negro courses.

Miami Wants to Keep That Lead

Now that the Miami Floridians have grabbed first place in the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division, they are not ready to give it up, at least not as easily as Indiana did.

The Floridians, who took the top spot Friday night from Indiana, increased their lead from one percentage point to a half game over idle Minnesota by beating Houston 113-108 Sunday night.

Indiana, meanwhile, dropped from third to fourth, two games behind, by losing to the New York Nets 112-96, its third consecutive defeat since taking first place Thursday.

Kentucky, 1 1/2 games back, took third with a 123-99 decision over Los Angeles, and in other games Dallas defeated slumping Western leading Oakland 119-116 and Denver bounced New Orleans 105-94.

On Saturday, Indiana lost to Dallas 121-116 and Oakland was beaten by New Orleans 137-122.

In the National Basketball Association Sunday, Philadelphia crushed Boston 127-102, Milwaukee surprised Los Angeles 106-97, San Francisco tripped Atlanta 113-106, Seattle checked Detroit 127-119 and Phoenix whipped Cincinnati 125-113.

Don Freeman's 25 points paced Miami, which won its game at the free throw line, hitting 27 of 31.

Walt Simon scored 17 of his 26 points and grabbed nine of his 15 rebounds in the second half and the Nets pulled away from a 60-59 halftime lead.

Kentucky, led by Darel Carrier's 26 points, used spurts of 17-6 and 32-13 in the final half to pull away from Los Angeles.

LET'S REFLECT

Good manners tend to imitate the look of health. This depends upon a well-constructed body; and a good nature has something of the same effect. We hold ourselves up to appear tall; we square our shoulders back to broaden the chest; we walk with uplifted head to give graceful length to the neck.—Joseph Joubert said it.

'City Killer'? — Blah! H.B. 39 Merely Taxpayer Justice

Incredible as it seems current Arkansas law permits city-dwellers to vote to annex adjoining rural property while denying a vote to rural residents who oppose annexation. The current session of the legislature finally recognized this injustice and H.B. 39 was passed by both the House and Senate to require voter approval by city and country residents alike.

H.B. 39 is bitterly opposed by metropolitan Little Rock, which labels the bill a "city killer." And today (Monday, Feb. 17) being the deadline on which Gov. Rockefeller can veto the measure there was a classic war of telephone messages this week-end putting pressure on the chief executive's office.

Suburban Little Rock allies of your editor in past state-wide petition campaigns telephoned me their own property was in danger of confiscation if H.B. 39 failed to become law. I had supported Gov. Rockefeller in two successful campaigns and felt justified in filing a protest against any veto.

What he does, under the tremendous pressure of Little Rock local officials, is anyone's guess. But our legislators have done their bit. Both State Senator Olen Hendrix of Prescott and State Representative Talbot Feldt, Jr., supported H.B. 39. The legislature in this instance has spoken for justice and common sense, and for what I believe is the majority opinion of the state — and if Gov. Rockefeller unwisely vetoes the bill it will be for him a serious political error.

Whose property is affected, and whether the owner lives in town or in the country, are questions entirely beside the point on this issue of constitutional rights and fundamental tax justice. In a republic you simply can't defend the proposition that a city shall be permitted to vote for annexation while the affected property owners are denied a vote within their own group.

H.B. 39 simply guarantees "one man, one vote," and proper representation for American taxpayers.

Municipal annexation should be a matter of bargaining — trading city public services in return for higher taxes. If townspeople can't convince suburban neighbors they will gain — then annexation is no bargain and deserves to lose.

My understanding of the background of H.B. 39 is that Little Rock has made repeated attempts to extend its tax base into the countryside and has been repeatedly rebuffed, even though the rural landowners had no vote, because townspeople themselves felt the city's public services were already over-extended and objected to spreading them still more thinly over a larger area.

But seizure of adjacent lands is something that can't be left to the judgment of townfolk alone. Under a republic all men stand equal, H.B. 39 simply reiterates that principle — and its veto would be an invitation to (1) A court test on the constitutionality of the present "land grab" law, or (2) An initiative petition putting H.B. back in circulation in a state-wide referendum — possibly both actions.

Crossett Has Plans for Integration

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — Supt. Hugh Willis has announced that the Crossett School Board has approved final plans for total desegregation of its schools beginning with the fall term in September.

The plan calls for all children from the first through fifth grades to attend the present elementary schools. Children in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades will attend Daniel Schools. Ninth and 10th graders will attend Norman School and 11th and 12th grade students will attend Crossett High School. Willis said Negro children will be divided so one-fourth will be placed in each elementary school.

College Is Determined to Stay Open

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco State College, hit by homemade bombs twice in four days, begins the spring semester today with its acting president vowing to keep the campus open.

Two explosions rocked the administration building early Sunday, blowing out 14 plate glass windows, touching off two fires and injuring a campus security officer.

The officer, Derek Pitts, was passing within a few yards of the explosions in a patrol car. He suffered a mild concussion but put out the fires.

No arrests were made. Witnesses said they saw two youths running from the area. Dr. S.I. Hayakawa, named acting president two weeks after minority students and sympathizers began a strike Nov. 6, called the explosions "just another of the neo-Fascist actions" by dissidents trying to close the campus.

Another bomb knocked out two windows in a student lounge Thursday night.

Hayakawa vowed to keep the campus open all spring, with police force if necessary. He conceded that many of the 18,000 students enrolled for the fall semester had been trying to transfer to other schools. Picketing, demonstrations and sometimes violence have accompanied the three-month-old strike.

The black studies department, which had been tentatively set to begin operations this semester, now won't begin until next fall, because of what Hayakawa called "sabotage" by Nathan Hare and other Negro faculty members.

The president said Hare no longer had his support to become head of the black studies department.

Hare and several other Negro dissidents interrupted a speech by Hayakawa to faculty members Friday by jumping onto the stage and heckling the president until they were removed police.

Drew County to Vote on Bonds

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP) — Drew County residents will vote Tuesday on a $900,000 bond issue to help finance construction of a new $1.3 million Drew County Hospital.

Voters will decide whether to approve a five-mill tax to pay for the bond issue. The remainder of the cost would come from federal funds.

The new hospital would be a 50-bed unit and would replace the present 41-bed hospital.

Recent School Suits Filed Without the Knowledge of Finch

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert H. Finch, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, says the Justice Department filed recent school desegregation suits in the South without consulting him.

Finch wrote off the incident as part of the birth pangs of a new administration, but he called for more coordination in the future.

"We're going to have to have a greater interface between the two — Justice and HEW — in this whole compliance area and across the nation," he said.

"But we haven't been in office long enough to get that working relationship established yet," Atty. Gen. John Mitchell filed the lawsuits in Louisiana and Houston a few days after Finch had described the cutting off of federal aid as the ultimate weapon in school segregation disputes.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Finch said the files on the Southern school districts were turned over to the attorney general. "The timing and the nature and the institution of these actions are entirely under his control, and are not done in relation to this department," he said.

Finch made these other points:

— His department is following, but re-examining, school desegregation guidelines inherited from the Democratic administration.

— The Supreme Court has prohibited "deliberate discrimination" but not segregation as such.

"If you look at the Supreme Court decision, segregation, in fact, is not prohibited by law," Finch said.

"What is prohibited is deliberate discrimination. And so you have to find hard evidence that someone, the people in a community, are deliberately creating situations which lead to discrimination."

"If segregation in fact were prohibited by law, what are you going to do with all the solid Negro schools in solid Negro areas in Northern cities?"

Political Heirs of the Democrat Machine Split Rich Mail Contracts

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — The political heirs of Boss Hague's old line Democratic Party machine have split up major construction contracts on a $40 million mail processing complex for the U.S. Post Office Department.

Among the contractors are a Democratic mayor, long allied with the Hudson County organization now headed by John V. Kenny, and an ex-convict with ties to the machine.

Another contract went to an electrical company whose business on public projects in the Jersey City-Newark area flourished after the son of a Mafia leader joined its payroll.

The $40 million price tag on the postal facility includes $26 million for construction, $12.6 million for automated equipment, and $1.7 million for acquiring and preparing the site, a 30-acre tract on a reclaimed garbage dump just across the Hudson River from Manhattan.

"The project will reflect progress from basement to roof," said John L. O'Marra, assistant postmaster general, at groundbreaking ceremonies last October.

It also has reflected, so far, the political realities of Northern New Jersey.

For example: — The site is in the congressional district of Rep. Dominick Daniels, a Kenny protégé and a member of the House Subcommittee on Postal Facilities.

— The Post Office Department awarded the design contract on June 29, 1961, to Compagnetta and Kenny, Inc., of Jersey City. "Kenny" is Bernard F. Kenny (no relation to John V.) who was sentenced to one year in federal prison in 1955 for concealing his interest in an architectural firm that got two contracts from the Jersey City Redevelopment Authority, a federally-financed project, while he was its executive director.

— Robert J. Burkhardt, the assistant postmaster general responsible for choosing the project architect, resigned in July, 1961 and returned to New Jersey to manage the winning campaign of Richard J. Hughes, Democratic candidate for governor. Burkhardt now is secretary.

Grier, Others to Testify in Sirhan Trial

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The mysterious girl in the polka-dot dress who was sought after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was identified in court today as Valerie Schulte of Santa Barbara.

Vincent Thomas DiPierro testifying at the murder trial of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, identified the girl from a picture. The girl in the picture was wearing a green dress with yellow polka dots; DiPierro, a part-time waiter, had told police he had seen a girl wearing a white dress with black polka dots standing near Sirhan before the assassination at the Ambassador Hotel.

There was no indication of what her connection, if any, was with Sirhan.

DiPierro had testified on direct examination last Friday that he had noticed Sirhan standing on a tray stacker. Defense attorney Grant B. Cooper asked him on cross-examination today, "What caused you to notice him Sirhan."

A. There was a girl standing in the area.
Q. At that time.

Balance of Payments No End to Drain

By TOM STEWART
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's first balance of payments surplus in over a decade was more apparent than real and should not be read as meaning the dollar drain has been ended, government spokesmen say.

In announcing the $190 million surplus for 1968, the Commerce Department said Sunday there were several factors indicating continued trouble in the United States' position.

For one thing, the steady flow of gold out of the country continued. The official U.S. stock of gold fell by nearly $1.2 billion during the year.

Also, the value of U.S. goods exported in 1968 only exceeded the worth of products imported by less than $100 million. This important factor used to be billions of dollars in favor of the United States. In fact, the country exported $3.5 billion more than it bought from overseas in 1967, a year in which the United States suffered a total balance of payments deficit of $3.6 billion.

The balance of payments is a comparison of the total spent by American business, individuals and government on foreign goods and services against the value of U.S. products and services bought by overseas purchasers.

It includes everything from the few dollars a traveling Iowa schoolteacher pays for a trinket in Rome to the millions a U.S. ship line would pay for a Japanese-built oil tanker.

The Commerce Department said the first balance of payments surplus since 1957 was entirely due to a "pronounced shift" in the closing weeks of December culminating in a $900 million surplus for the quarter — enough to offset deficit figures in two of the three previous quarters.

"For most of the quarter the HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Jack Cloninger wants to know who carried off his four-room frame house that had been condemned for freeway construction.

Cloninger told police he recently purchased the house near highway U.S. 59 in northeast Houston, and planned to move it to a new location.

Congress, With Hefty Truce Ignored by American Bombers

By EDMOND LABRETTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 91st Congress, refreshed by 10 days off and a hefty pay raise, returned to Capitol Hill today with committee hearings on taxes and the nuclear nonproliferation treaty the major exceptions to another week of light activity.

Although the hearings are the first hard legislative work of the year, Congress is expected to continue for another month or so the slow pace that has marked the session since convening Jan. 3.

The House Ways and Means Committee begins its study of federal tax code reforms Tuesday with Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., the opening witness. He has been a major critic of the exempt status of many foundations and the amassing of large concentrations of economic power by some large businesses.

The hearings will last for months with final action not expected until next year.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee begins its hearing of the nuclear treaty, also on Tuesday, with Secretary of State William P. Rogers the lead-off witness.

The committee last year approved the pact, which is designed to stop the spread of atomic weapons, but the Senate did not act on the treaty because of reaction to the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

President Nixon, who as a candidate last year asked for delay in ratification, has since given his blessings.

Aquaman Dies While Diving

By RALPH DIGHTON

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A U.S. aquanaut died of a heart attack while diving at 610 feet today to check air leaks in the project Sealab 3 habitat, the Navy reported.

He was identified as Berry L. Cannon, 33, an electronics engineer from Panama City, Fla.

The Navy blamed the death, first since the Sealab underwater exploration program began in 1964, on "cardiac arrest."

Cannon was one of four divers who went down early today to investigate air leaks from the 57x12-foot Sealab 3 on the floor of the ocean about a mile off San Clemente Island. They made the trip in a pressurized Personnel Transfer Capsule lowered by cable from the USS Elk River.

The Navy said Cannon left the capsule and was swimming over to the habitat when stricken. He SAIGON (AP) — The thunder of bombs from U.S. B52 bombers reverberated throughout Saigon tonight as U.S. and South Vietnamese forces resumed offensive operations after a 24-hour truce for the start of the lunar new year.

Allied infantrymen resumed some 60 operations they had interrupted briefly for the new year festival known as Tet, and U.S. warplanes went back into action. The aim was to maintain pressure on Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces so they could not repeat the Tet offensive which gave the allies such a setback last February.

The allied truce ended at 6 p.m. Saigon time, and 22 minutes later waves of B52s were dropping tons of explosives only 31 miles north of Saigon on the fringes of Communist War Zone D. Seven miles west of the capital, smaller American fighter-bombers attacked a Viet Cong bunker complex.

In the central highlands, American artillery opened fire on enemy troop concentrations near Kontum City 45 seconds after the truce ended.

Military spokesmen said the allies would ignore the rest of the seven-day Viet Cong ceasefire, which runs until 7 a.m. Saturday, just as they ignored the first 53 hours of it.

U.S. headquarters said the enemy violated their own ceasefire and the period of allied truce with at least 170 attacks during the 53 hours from 7 a.m. Saturday until noon today.

Headquarters reported that 128 of these incidents occurred during the first 18 hours of the allied truce, including an attempt early today by hundreds of North Vietnamese to overrun a U.S. Marine artillery base near the Laotian border.

During the allied truce, U.S. headquarters said, eight Americans were killed and 71 wounded, while American forces killed at least 96 of the enemy and captured seven.

South Vietnamese headquarters announced that 16 government soldiers had been killed and 86 wounded since 7 a.m. Saturday. A spokesman said government troops killed 110 enemy soldiers and captured 61 during the same period.

The spokesman accused the enemy of taking advantage of the ceasefire although many of their attacks were on allied reconnaissance forces, which the Viet Cong had indicated it would consider a violation of the truce. While allied offensive operations were halted during the truce period, both air and ground reconnaissance continued.

$300,000 for Road, Bridge Repair

WASHINGTON (AP) — A grant of $300,000 for road and bridge repair has been awarded 32 Arkansas counties after President Nixon declared the flood-damaged region a disaster area.

The funds, requested by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, are to be spent on nonfederally assisted roads and bridges that were damaged or destroyed because of heavy rains and flooding last month.

Rockefeller said additional funds probably would be allocated, following a survey by engineers of the damaged areas.

The 32 counties are: Baxter, Benton, Boone, Clay, Conway, Craighead, Cross, Faulkner, Fulton, Greene, Howard, Independence, Izard, Jackson, Lawrence, Logan, Lonoke, Madison, Marion, Montgomery, Newton, Perry, Polk, Poinsett, Pike, Prairie, Randolph, Searcy, Sharp, St. Francis, Stone, Woodruff and Yell.

Seeks Answer on Pentagon, Domestic Issues

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has asked President Nixon's top urban affairs advisers to examine proposals by his Democratic predecessors for continued Pentagon involvement in efforts to overcome the problems of the nation's big cities.

Under the Johnson administration, the Defense Department moved into the domestic social-economic field in a big way and Laird has to decide whether to continue that involvement.

Before making that decision he wants to know from the Urban Affairs Council whether programs inherited from the Democrats might fit into President Nixon's plans for handling the problems of the poor and black ghettos of the cities.

In one of his final acts as defense secretary, Clark M. Clifford last month turned a report over to Laird containing hundreds of ideas for the Pentagon "to assist in alleviating serious domestic problems without detracting from its primary defense mission."

Some critics have suggested the Defense Department ought to stay clear of social-economic problems and devote its full resources to the nation's military programs.

Laird has said the Defense Department should give aid in domestic problems whenever possible, but he indicated non-military activities must be secondary.

A spokesman for the Urban Affairs Council said the group, made up of cabinet officers and other top government officials, has scheduled the Pentagon package for consideration within the next couple of weeks.

Some of the major domestic aid efforts started recently by Pentagon include:

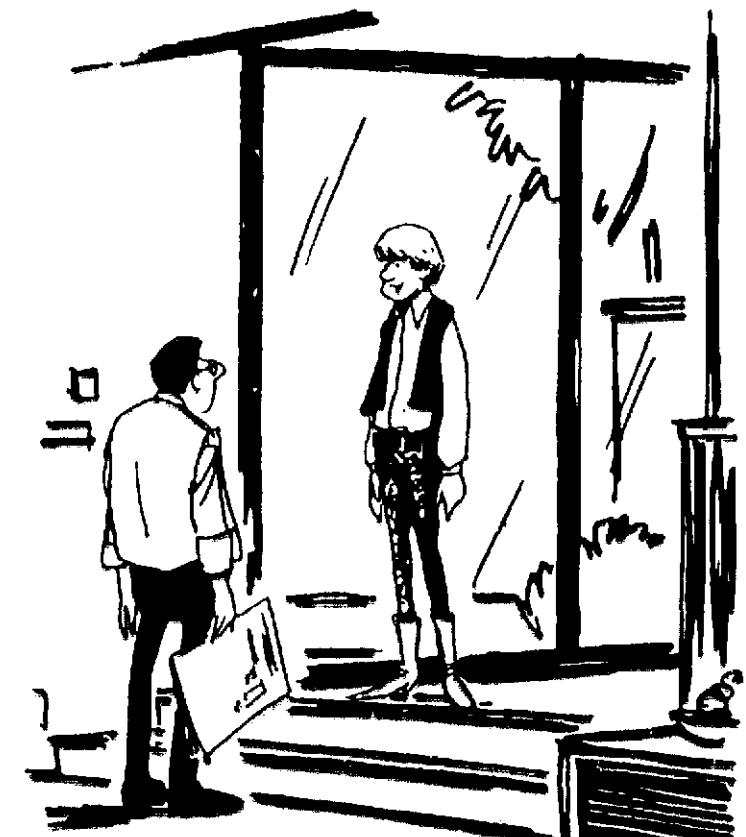

- Expansion of contract awards to firms for work performed in ghetto areas.
- Encouragement to defense contractors to provide special training for unskilled workers in large metropolitan areas, with cost credit in connection with pricing of defense orders.
- "Project Referral", a computerized service matching the skills of retiring military personnel with job opportunities available in the civilian life.
- Technical help in developing new methods of home construction.

One of the biggest programs initiated by former Defense Chief Robert S. McNamara is called "Project Transition."

Under this effort, the Defense Department provides "in-service skill training and educational opportunities in order to increase the noncareer service man's chances for productive employment immediately upon return to civilian life."

About 250,000 servicemen took part in Project Transition last year.

Chinese Take Over Cruising Holiday Yachts

By FORREST EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer
HONG KONG (AP) — A flotilla of Hong Kong yachts was warned not to sail to Macao on a holiday cruise for the Chinese new year. Now the Chinese Reds are believed to have three of the yachts and 15 of the holiday-makers, including four Americans.

Sources at Hong Kong's Royal Yacht Club said the yachtsmen had been told the cruise "was not a good thing at this particular time." And an official of the Hong Kong Marine Department said only one of the six yachts had cleared its plans with the department.

The yacht club sources said previous holiday cruises to Macao had gone off without incident. But the sailors this year were warned of the strained relations between Peking and the Hong Kong government because of the imprisonment of Communists held responsible for the 1965 anti-British campaign of violence in the colony.

The Portuguese colony of Macao is 40 miles across the mouth of the Pearl River estuary from Hong Kong and on an island just off the Chinese mainland. China claims a 12-mile limit to its territorial waters, and the sea route between the two colonies thus lies in Chinese waters, but ferries sail regularly along the route without interference.

The six yachts set out Saturday, anchored for the night off an island midway between Hong Kong and Macao, and resumed the voyage Sunday. Then they became separated in thick fog. Only three of the yachts, the Nordica, Tolo and Koala, reached the Portuguese colony.

The Morasum, the Reverie and the Uni-Na-Mara did not arrive. A vessel outside the group picked up a garbled distress message from the Morasum shortly after noon Sunday, saying it was being boarded by Communist Chinese.

This report was relayed to Marine Department officials Sunday night and Chinese fishermen from Hong Kong said they saw Red Chinese junk capture the three yachts.

Best available information listed four Americans, three Swedes, two Britons, one Australian, one Frenchman and four Chinese aboard the three craft. Four were children.

Local yachtsmen said they were worried about a possibility the captives might be accused of espionage because all three vessels carried electronic navigational aids, depth sounders and radios.

The Morasum, a 12-ton auxiliary yawl, was skippered by Simon Baldwin, about 55, a native of Los Angeles who heads a local firm representing American aircraft manufacturers. The U.S. consulate said he has a wife and daughter living at Laguna Beach, Calif.

With him were Bessie Hope Donald, about 40, a native of Bristol, Va., an advertising consultant and a longtime resident

Youth Bitten by Snake Is Critical

FORT MEYERS, Fla. (AP) — A boy bitten on both ankles by a diamondback rattlesnake in a trackless cypress swamp was in critical condition today.

Doctors said they were unable to give him effective doses of an antivenom serum because of an allergy, but early today they began giving him small doses in hopes his body would build up a resistance that would permit larger doses.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Bradley gave this account:

The large snake struck 13-year-old Larry Bellanger of Fort Myers while he was hunting harmless snakes with four other boys in the swamp.

Lee Bochette, 15-year-old eagle scout and leader of the snake hunt, administered first aid. He used a snakebite kit, splitting open the puncture wounds and applying suction cups.

Meanwhile, the other three boys went for help, running for half an hour before reaching a telephone. They called the sheriff's office.

Lee in the meantime hoisted Larry on his shoulders and carried him a 1 1/2 miles to the nearest house. The owner of the house drove them to Lee Memorial Hospital.

tary of state in Gov. Hughes' administration and also state chairman of the Democratic Party.

On Oct. 20, 1960, Comporetta and Kenny Inc., contributed $1,000 to the re-election campaign of Daniels and another $1,000 to Rep. Cornelius Gallagher, a Democrat whose district also embraces part of Boss Kenny's Hudson County Bailiwick.

General contractor on the project is A. J. Sarubbi, mayor of North Bergen, a loyal member of the Kenny organization, and a $1,000 contributor to the 1968 campaigns of both Daniels and Gallagher.

Subcontract for the electrical work went to Valentine Electric Co., a firm that has received millions of dollars in public contracts since 1958 when Anthony (Tony Boy) Bolardo joined the payroll. Bolardo is the 54-year-old son of Ruggiero (Ritchie) Bolardo, identified by a U.S. Senate investigating committee as a Mafia leader in New Jersey.

David M. Satz Jr., U.S. attorney for New Jersey, said of the younger Bolardo, "Joseph Valachi (the Mafia informer) has identified him as a member of the Cosa Nostra (another name for the underworld organization). He is an executive who draws a salary from the Valentine Co."

The contractors, with the exception of Comporetta and Kenny, were chosen by Lincoln Rosen and Associates, which will own the facility and lease it to the Post Office for 30 years at an annual rent of $1,985,000.

Hundreds of post offices are rented by the government from private owners. The Kearny facility will be largest such leased project.

Seymour Rubin of Miami Beach, one of Rosen's associates and the owner of about 70 post offices around the country, said in a telephone interview that he and his partners chose the contractors they thought to be the best qualified in the area.

Asked if he knew Kenny, who usually winters in Florida, Rubin said he had heard of the political boss but didn't know him.

"I stay away from politics as far as possible," he added. "I don't make any contributions to a political party."

John Kenny was a trusted lieutenant of Frank Hague during Hague's 30-year reign as mayor of Jersey City and Democratic Party boss of Hudson County.

But two years after Hague retired in 1947, Kenny broke with the machine, defeated the boss' hand-picked successor, and took over as mayor and leader of the county organization.

Kenny no longer holds public office, or even a formal party post, but he once outlined his position to a meeting of ward leaders: "There is only one leader in Hudson County, and you're looking at him."

It was as mayor that Kenny gave Dominick Daniels his first public office, naming him magistrate of Jersey City on May 20, 1952.

Six years later Daniels won election to Congress as the organization candidate.

Kenny also was mayor when Bernard Kenny became executive director of the city's redevelopment authority in 1950.

On June 24, 1954, Bernard Kenny was indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of concealing his interest in an architectural firm, in which he had once been a partner, that had received two contracts totalling $15,000 from the authority.

Kenny denied during his trial that he still was a partner in the firm, but he admitted that he received $8,925 from his former associates while serving as head of the redevelopment agency. He said the money was given to him to hold for use in expanding the firm when he rejoined it.

The jury failed to reach a verdict, but Kenny was retried and convicted on Sept. 28, 1955. Sentenced to one year in federal prison and fined $5,000, he was paroled after six months.

When Kenny returned to Jersey City, he joined one of his former partners, Joseph Comporetta, to establish an architect-engineer firm.

The contract Comporetta and Kenny received in 1961 for the postal complex originally called for payment of $205,000 to design a 240,000 square foot building. It was renegotiated in 1966 to call for a $59,000 square foot building and a fee of $712,000.

Asked how the department chooses architects, a Post Office official said interested firms are examined by the department's office of engineering and "a list of those qualified is supplied to the assistant postmaster general for facilities and he makes the choice." Burkhardt was the assistant postmaster general for facilities in 1961.

Valentine Electric Co. was a small Newark contracting firm in 1968 when, according to U.S. Justice Department investigators, Anthony Bolardo joined the firm.

Bolardo's business, as listed in the directory of the prosperous Newark suburb of Essex Fells, is Valentine Electric Co., but the firm does not list his name among its officers or directors.

Today Valentine is the largest electrical contractor in the Newark area.

Public projects such as $2.8 million in contracts from the Newark Housing Authority, more than $3 million from the Newark Board of Education and a $2.4 million award for the Essex County Courthouse and jail now under construction, account for much of the company's spectacular growth.

Valentine also was the electrical contractor for a 16-story federal building in Newark and the Hudson County administration building designed by Comporetta and Kenny.

Valentine received most of its contracts by coming in as the low bidder. It has a reputation for reliable performance and unexcelled labor relations.

Filling and grading the 30-acre Postal site, once part of the marshland garbage dumping grounds that cover hundreds of acres on the outskirts of the town of Kearny, proved more costly than the government anticipated.

Expected to cost $300,000, the work finally cost more than $1.5 million. It took a long time to haul away the rotting garbage and haul in enough rock fill to make the site suitable. More time passed as the project grew on Post Office Department drawing boards.

Thus it wasn't until last November that the prime contractor, Mayor Sarubbi of North Bergen, was able to start work.

Then the firm neglected to obtain a building permit, leading to a clash with Jerome T. Wagner, the Kearny building inspector. The company was fined a total of $75.

Then Wagner, noting that the permit estimated the cost of construction at $16,850,000, while the Post Office Department had figured it would cost $26,076,000, wrote to Lincoln Rosen asking for an explanation.

The $10 million difference would mean $10,000 in fees to the town.

Rosen replied that it wasn't known yet how much the cost would be but "at this moment it looks as though considerable savings can be achieved in the letting of the subcontracts, but it is too early to tell the final figure."

Nixon task force for setting a federal floor under welfare payments was being considered. "It's not a case of taking over the functions of the states in the welfare field," he said. "It's a case of trying to find a brokerage, or a mean level, between the enormous disparity of an $8 figure in a Southern state or a $70 figure in an industrial state."

Finch said he hoped the welfare changes could be initiated before the end of the Vietnam war.

The secretary held out little hope for a massive block grant program that would pump billions of dollars of federal revenue into state and local economies.

"We're just spread too thin as we have the commitments we do abroad," he said.

Finch agreed with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller that states and cities face a major fiscal crisis, but disagreed with Rockefeller's suggestion that the federal surtax be continued to pay for some of the education costs now borne locally.

Finch said "I'm not sure we should get into the business of having a specific federal tax for education. Earmarking is sometimes dangerous, particularly on this scale."

The HEW official also rejected Rockefeller's proposal that the federal government eventually take over all welfare costs. "I don't propose . . . to take all of this $50 billion budget and go into the business of being a Department of the Dole," Finch said.

Used Knowledge in Delivery

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Several months ago a local educational television station ran a program on the birth of a child and its a good thing the Rev. Robert Payson was watching.

The Rev. Mr. Payson, using the knowledge gained from viewing the show, delivered the baby of one of his parishioners, Mrs. Robert Gast, in her own home.

The mother and her 8 pound, 10 ounce daughter, were reported doing well at a Lancaster hospital.

Anne Bancroft as "Myra Breckinridge"? It could happen, because Robert Fryer, who will produce that film, wants it that way. Fryer and coproducer James Cresson have a full schedule ahead of them at 20th Century-Fox.

Fryer is a Broadway producer, originally—he did such hits as "Sweet Charity" and "Mame"—but a long-time movie buff, unlike many Broadwayites. He always wanted to make movies, and he has done well with his first two—"The Boston Strangler" and "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie."

"Myra Breckinridge" is next. Then will come the film version of the best-selling spy novel, "The Salzburg Connection." And then, if Fryer can talk Dick Zanuck into it, he wants to do Mary Renault's "The King Must Die."

Fryer's idea for "Myra Breckinridge" is that, despite its sick subject matter, it can be a relatively tasteful film—although he realizes an "X" rating is unavoidable. He would like it to be a low-budget film, aimed at art houses, but the publicity and name-value of the title may preclude that.

"The Salzburg Connection" is another cup of novel, entirely. This will be a straight story-telling film, shot in and around Salzburg. But Fryer, who likes his movies to say something, is determined that this one will put its emphasis on the current rise of neo-Nazism in Germany.

I'm thankful to CBS' new series, The Queen and I, for bringing Billy DeWolfe back to television, if for no other reason. And I really can't think of any other reason. That may be enough.

Billy is a genuinely funny man. He can even be funny talking about vacations. What he likes to do on vacations is get in his car and drive.

He has lost count of how many times he has driven across the country. One time he was on vacation in Massachusetts and his agent in Los Angeles asked Billy to call him about a picture deal. But Billy felt like a drive, so he drove to L.A. He called the agent who said the deal was postponed. Billy got right back in his car and drove back to Massachusetts.

He calls his cars by girls' names. He has had Daisy Dodge and Polly Pontiac and, lately, a string of Clara Cadillacs. He's driving Clara Cadillac the Tenth now.

As everybody should know by now, this is the last year for Gomer Pyle. But it's only the beginning for Jim Nabors and his sergeant, Frank Sutton. They're going on—together.

"I had my choice," Sutton says. "When I knew this was the last year for Gomer, they offered me a show of my own, based on the character of Sgt. Carter. I was also offered several other series. Or I could go on with Jim Nabors on the variety show he was going to do."

Sutton picked the last alternative. It will be called Friends and Nabors. He decided to do it because he had never done a variety show and he thought it would be fun.

Besides, he's tired. This season, he says, has been a back-breaker. He thinks that's because this is the fifth year, and both his and Jim's salaries have gone up so high that the producer couldn't afford too many guest stars. So the two of them have been carrying the show—and great piles of dialogue.

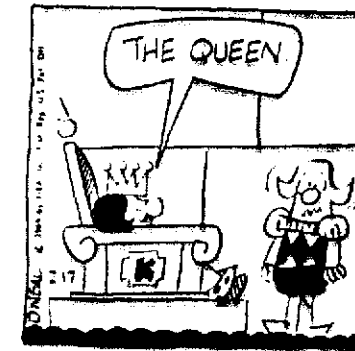

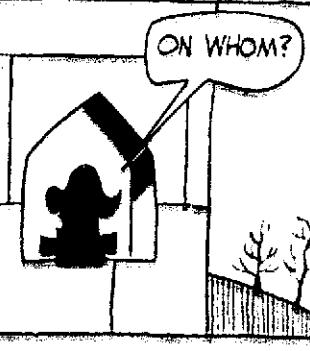

You'll be happy to learn that Frank is planning to keep his crew-cut on the new show.

"It's become part of me," he says. "Anyhow, I'm a crew-cut kind of guy. The cigar and the cup of coffee goes with it, right?"
